"Mr. Glades" Is Gone; Luther Jones Is Dead

LUTHER JONES — addresses group assembled from all over the state when the "big pumps" were turned on at 20-mile bend pumping station.

"He Left His Mark"

"We pass this way but once" and as we do, how we do it, great or small, leaves some impression within a community, a state or a nation.

Luther Jones leaves a strong and vibrant impression upon his community — an impression that will never disappear. One cannot help but look down the main street of this town, or stand and gaze at the huge pumping stations along the canals, or the schools, or the acres upon acres of vegetables, sugar cane, the new mulls dotting the area, the pasture lands with thousands of cattle and not give credit to this man—Luther Jones—for his tireless energy and vision in bringing to fruition the development of his beloved Glades through construction of the Flood Control program.

Luther Jones was a man of strong convictions, there was no half-way view. He respected strength, but in no sense was he ever overawed by the stature of the opposition or the odds opposing his viewpoint.

The high and mighty Senators, Governors, rich men as well as the lowly and meek visited him at his office. To his eternal credit all were treated simply and kindly. He gave counsel, requested or not but always to the point, direct and forceful.

Those of us who knew Luther Jones, personally, knew of his great compassion for his fellow man and the deep and abiding loyalty he gave to his friends. We have seen him strongly moved by the death of a friend, or when honored by his community. We have also seen him in anger or deeply moved by an act of government which he opposed.

Whether one agreed or disagreed with Luther Jones the contributions made by him in public service transcend any personal feelings.

His activities in behalf of his fellowman are almost too numerous to mention. Besides his Flood Control activity he has been for several years chairman of the State Chamber of Commerce Water Control Committee, a past president of the Belle Glade Rotary Club, past Commander of the local American Legion Post, member of the Masonic Lodge and the Belle Glade Elks Lodge. For nineteen years a member and chairman of the Belle Glade Housing Authority and chairman of the local Draft board since prior to World War Two. He headed the area American Red Cross activity and for years was Glades chairman of the Disaster Committee—all of these activities were contributions to the welfare of his fellowman. He fulfilled a mission that leaves an indelible mark.

The question in the minds of many is this "who can take his place?" His vast knowledge of the area, the smallest detail, the merchant who tells the stranger "Luther Jones knows about that — I suggest you see him", the many people, friends and employees who depended on him, his family, persons from all walks of life who formerly picked up a phone to call Luther for the answer — this is no more.

For these reasons and many more it can truly be said that this man left his mark, an impression not achieved by many people. The community will continue, the area will prosper and life will go on but somehow things will be different. Luther Jones has called it "Thirty."

"Thirty"

Editor's Note:

"Thirty" is written for Herald Publisher Luther Jones this week. With the approach of hurricane Alma in seems understandable that have should break Jones in a loss so great. To those who may see the Luther Jones Story is overdone in this issue let us say: — He seldom wrote OF himself. This week he offered no resistance.

Each and every story on the life of this beloved man was written by those friends who knew him best. So many wanted to "write about Luther."

An insurmountable task was eagerly assumed by others.

Our thanks to all for every thoughtful consideration cannot be expressed.

The Luther Jones family has requested that in lieu of flowers contributions be made to Glades General Hospital for the establishment of a Luther Jones Memorial Room.

Checks may be mailed to P. O. Box 768, or cash left at THE BELLE GLADE HERALD at the request of Mrs. L. Price Chairman of the Hospital Auxiliary. All monies received will be recorded and the contributions given to the family for the Memorial.

The Glades Has Lost Its Champion

"Luther Jones is dead." Let no man praise him. Let all men speak truly of him. For there are those of us who loved him. The Glades has lost its Captain. The Glades has lost its champion.

"Luther Jones is dead." Luther Jones loved the Glades as no other man. He saw the Glades start. He helped the Glades start. He was the first to recognize its potential.

Luther Jones saw the Glades grow. He helped it grow. He knew as though by divine wisdom that the Glades will continue to grow. And grow. He believed in the Glades. He was proud of the Glades.

Herald Publisher Luther Jones, Sr., died Tuesday around 2:30 only minutes after he was stricken with a fatal heart attack while performing his regular activities in the place he loved to be — his office at The Belle Glade Herald.

Appearing in usual top form all morning, he was found sitting in his favored big chair in his private office which he had just entered after jovial conversation with some of the employees in the back shop. "You'd better call the doctor," were his only words.

Doctors Luis R. Guerrero and James A. Gray were first to arrive and applied heart massage and oxygen, but with no noticeable results. Rushed by ambulance to Glades General Hospital, he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in Belle Glade First Baptist church where he was a member, with Reverend C. H. Eiland conducting.

Survivors include his widow, Ruby; a son, Luther, Jr., and two brothers, Leslie Jones, 100 S. E. Ave. E and J. B. Jones, North Palm Beach.

Interment will be in Foreverglades Memorial Gardens.

Probably no man in the history of Florida did so much for his community, his area and his state, as Luther Jones.

He was known far and wide for his ability to get things done. He carried a big "Editorial Stick," often front page style, and was not afraid to use it against friend or foe if he felt they were endangering his beloved Glades. His famous "Weeping Cow" which attracted National attention led to the establishment of the Central and Southern Fla. Flood Control District that has meant so much to all of Florida.

He told the story of the Glades long before anyone else could see or understand what this development meant. But he knew... he could see into the future and he was determined that nothing was to stop this progress. For his work he was honored by the Florida Legislature. He was recognized in Washington as a leader of men and his word was his bond.

Luther Jones came of "old fashioned stock"... men who were afraid to be afraid of things that had to be done, regardless of the opposition.

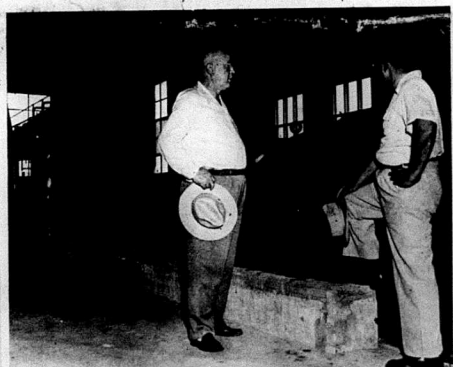

He was not hesitant to walk alone with his ideas or his opinions among his fellow citizens and the "Luther Jones Story" of the Glades is today known throughout the country.

Jones was a gruff man, but at heart he was warm and kind. He could ruff up his opposition with language that would "curl the hair". He could weep at some kind word or attention, or the loss of a friend.

His office was always open to citizens of the community who needed help or advice. He was sought after by County, State and (Continued On Page 16)

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

Truth In Packaging

If the Johnson administration has its way, the federal government will get into the business of checking whether boxes of cold cereal are filled to the brim and whether "super-sized" cartons of soap powder are truly "super." It can't be a truly Great Society, says the administration, without passage of what is known as "truth in packaging" legislation.

This is silly, petty legislation. It assumes that the American housewife hasn't brains enough to choose the best box of cookies or the most economical brand of soap flakes. The proposed legislation is not only absurd but irritating because the Johnson administration is so contemptuous of truth when packaging information for the American people. The administration is the chief offender insofar as misleading labels are concerned.

A "truth in packaging" law would be a fine thing if it applied to statements by government spokesmen. U. S. Rep. Darward G. Hall (R-Missouri) made precisely this proposal in a recent speech before the Southern States Industrial Council. He pointed out, for example, that such legislation should apply to statements by federal officials, and cited Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, who has argued that the government has a right to lie.

Many of the statements that emanate from Washington these days simply cannot be believed by the people. And this isn't a little think like a box of ginger snaps not containing as many cookies as one might expect. The buyers of the administration's legislative packages are losing much more than a few pennies; they are losing their liberties.

Take the Medicare program, for instance. This was supposedly to be a strictly humanitarian program. That's the way the package was sold to the public. But Medicare is being used as another weapon to force hospitals to operate in ways that they believe bad for patients and medical care in general.

Unless a hospital is willing to do everything ordered by federal inspectors, they won't get approved for patients covered under Medicare. So the health program turns out to be another big stick to beat Americans into a state of obedience.

For that matter, one should begin with the label "The Great Society." If federal officials can inquire into whether a box of soap flakes is truly "super," the public should have the right to inquire whether "The Great Society" is truly "great." Would a really great society build up vast debts to unload on the next generation of Americans? Would a great society deny to a homeowner his right to rent or sell to whom he pleases? Would a great society use tricky methods of tax collection to confuse the public into believing the deficit is not as large as it is? The Johnson "Great Society" is doing all these things.

If "truth in packaging" applied to the Johnson administration, there would have to be tremendous reforms. Consider the so-called "civil rights" legislation. If truth were a requirement, the White House would be compelled to admit that the real goal of the "civil rights" bill is to pack the voter rolls with new voters, irrespective of their lack of ability to understand and judge public issues.

If there were "truth in packaging" legislation covering government activities, the Great Society would have to report poor accounting procedures and waste of public funds. The bureaucrats would have to disclose the exact cost of training someone in the Job Corps.

If there were "truth in packaging" for government, the administration would have to reveal that its real aim in cracking down on Anti-communist Rhodesia was to get votes in the Harlems of the nation. It also would have to confess that the Executive Branch usurped the right of Congress by taking economic action against Rhodesia.

"Truth in packaging" also would reveal why the administration wants a tax increase when billions of dollars in welfare statist programs could be eliminated.

It will be a mighty cold day in August, however, when the Great Society approves "truth in packaging" as applied to itself. If truth were the standard, the Great Society would be out of business.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My latest pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture come last week and they was a article in it saying the food surplus in this country was getting cut down to almost nothing. The piece said a real bad crop year would run us short of wheat for our own use.

I bring this matter up at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle claimed if we didn't stop our food giveaway program to them foreign countries we was fixing to change places with the folks we was trying to help.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw a piece in his farm magazine where they was a shortage of blackeyed peas in this country right now. Zeke claimed blackeyed peas and hog meat had hold America together for 200 year and we better give 'em away immediate.

I don't know, Mister Editor, what the answer is to the nation's farm problem. We start out paying millions to give farmers to cut down on crops, more millions for storage of the surplus crops they was raising, and now we was running short. Actual, for 20 year the Government has been running the farm program on a guessing basis. They ain't nobody in Washington, it seems, that knows nothing about the problem. But ever administration comes up with a new answer, and it's always wrong.

Clem Webster said Saturday night the Government couldn't even do its own farming with any sense. He said he was reading a piece where the Navy Academy in Annapolis had a typhoid fever scare back in 1911 and started its own dairy so the students would get untainted milk. This scare disappeared 40 year ago but they was still running their own dairy and milking their own cows at the Academy. The General Accounting Office figured out the other day, reported Clem, that they could buy milk of the same quality from local dairies at a savings to the taxpayers of $84,000 a year.

Bug Hoolum come up with the best answer to the problem I've saw anywhere. Bug said Saturday night, our Congressmen knowed about all the millions we been wasting for years, come home to mend their fences and complain about it, but they ain't done nothing about it in the last 30 year.

Bug allowed as how the answer to the whole problem was to elect a Congressman for six month terms. If he didn't do nothing in six months, give a new one, and keep rotating 'em ever six months till we git some results. And he was in favor of electing Senators on a one-year basis and make 'em come home ever year and give account of themselves.

If you like this idea, Mister Editor, you might give it a editorial whirl.

Yours Truly,
Uncle Dan

Let's Continue Observance

Recognizing Memorial Day

Memorial Day 1966 has an special significance, for in addition to Our Boys who have subjected themselves to life-long crippling and the supreme sacrifice, in the wars before, we have near 300,000 moving 8,000 miles a way fighting, dying and being maimed with and among the yellow races.

Memorial Day is formally and actually for US (United States) and ALL OF US to memorialize the departed of ALL wars, as well as ALL departed loved ones and it is fitting that recognition be given its purpose NOW when there are those who viciously sympathize with international forces opposed to our form of government.

Many who did not participate in the Parade and ceremonies last May 30th are thankful that somebody patriotically advanced the idea, and followed through with a hastily (6 days) assembled participation. That SOMEBODY was Royce Owens and his wife, Madeline.

Of course they didn't do it all — they found willing helpers — but they were there at the phone, on personal visits and during the formation and actual performances until the final word by Master of Ceremonies on the platform, LeBron Williams.

Officials of the Glades communities, Palm Beach County and prominent citizens were present. The Boy & Girl Scouts, the Baton Twirling Groups, Beauty Queens — three of them — the National Guard and two negro bands.

It is hoped that Service organizations and public officials will list Memorial Day 1967 as a MUST in proper observance.

Lake Shore High Principal Honored During Awards Day Program

Glades Oldest School Gives Way To Progress

Harma Miller Receives Degree

The Bryant School is one of three being phased out by the Board.
Bryant School is the oldest school in the Glades, having its origin in the Beulah Lane Baptist Church, 1909. In 1914 the "Sugar Mill School" as it was known locally, became officially the Amstar School, on U. S. Sugar Company land, and a two-room school was built. It was slightly enlarged in 1946 and subsequently was named the Bryant School. Until the end of the 1964-65 school year, a one-room so-called Junior High School was operated as part of this facility, but last year Superintendent Robert W. Fulton and the Board ordered this closed and its students transferred to nearby Pahokee Junior High School.

Harma Mims Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mims of Belle Glade, Florida, received her B. A. degree in Spanish this week from Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida. Harma, a graduate of Lake Shore High School, plans to teach.
A BOC she was a member of Y. W. C. A. Women's Senate, Seaside Wind Ensemble, Alpha.
Kappa Alpha Sorority, who's who's in America College and Universities & during Junior year, spent a broad in Madrid Spain.

Alumni of the ten classes to have been graduated from Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High School, since the doors of the school opened in 1953, assembled during the Annual Awards Day Assembly program last week to pay tribute to the Principal, Charles M. McCurdy.

During the presentation of annual student awards by various departments of the school, past graduates filed into the auditorium and took their places in a pre-arranged, reserved section of the building.

At the conclusion of student presentations, Mr. Charles C. Wilson II, honor graduate of the class of 1960 was called to the stage. In a most eloquent manner, Mr. Wilson made it known that the alumni present were paying tribute to an educator who has tirelessly given of himself for the boys and girls who have entered the portals of Lake Shore High School to be educated. Having had no previous knowledge of the tribute, Mr. McCurdy was noticeably surprised and touched.

Mr. Wilson continued the tribute by having roll call of alumni by classes. Two members of the first class in the history of Lake Shore High School were present for the occasion, one having traveled from New York to be here. A spokesman from each of the ten classes presented Mr. McCurdy with a gift from their class before Barbara Finney, president-elect of the student council which declared the day as CHARLES M. MCCURDY DAY on behalf of all past presidents of the school's student council. A fitting climax for the tribute was the presentation of a plaque by Miss Finney and John Ellison on behalf of the present student body in appreciation for dedicated service to education. Special gifts of congratulations were acknowledged from Raulerson Office Supply, Averill's Photographers, and Flowers by Creech. In his expression of gratitude and appreciation, Mr. McCurdy thanked all who had taken time to think of him in such a special way and felt that his belief in the Philosophy of Lake Shore High School is well-founded.

With the graduation of 87 students from Lake Shore, Jr.-Sr. High School last Friday night, Mr. McCurdy begins a second decade of graduating classes from the school.

Guides Featured Belle Glade

Belle Glade has been given special note in a set of recently published travel guides of the United States. The series of eight regional guidebooks, entitled "Fodor's Travel Guides, USA," will soon be on sale at all book stores and Shell Oil service stations. For the first printing, 500,000 copies were produced.

In a section devoted to "Exploring Florida," the guidebook states, "It's worth the trip, especially during the winter growing season. More than 30,000 railroad cars of vegetables are shipped each season from Belle Glade to frosty but hungry northerners — and occasionally, Californians."

"Sports fishing is a primary diversion and the lake (Okeechobee), although rarely more than six or eight feet deep, is a contender for the best-fishing-in-America title." A brief discussion of the agriculture and cattle industry is included in this section. Eugene Fodor, general editor of the series, describes the books as the greatest undertaking of his career. In the past 16 years, he has edited and published 24 prize-winning travel books on Europe, Asia, Hawaii and the Caribbean. Each region and each state contains an introduction which traces the history of the region and captures the mood of the people, thereby enabling the traveler to understand better and feel a kinship with the local people.

Get Your New Fishing License

All fresh water fishing licenses expire on June 30 and new licenses are required on July 1. Most fishermen purchase new licenses as soon as they are available, some delay until just prior to going fishing. Others will fish without license as long as possible. During the month of April the tags were turned on 254 of the latter group as they get "caught" fishing without licenses.

In a statewide report of arrests, W. B. Copeland, chairman of the Game and Fish Water Fish Commission said, "A fishing license may be the least expensive ever, some fishermen will attempt to evade the law and fish without licenses. The end result of such practice can be a fine that far exceeds the cost of a fishing license."

YOUR CREDIT

New York (NAPIS)-For most Americans these days, the question isn't whether to use credit, but how to use it in the best way. Investigate a potential creditor's background. A lending agency, for example, should display a state license on its wall, as well as plaques showing membership in state and national associations. These organizations demand adherence to a strict code of ethics.

Firm in Faith

"Be watchful, stand firm in your faith, be courageous, be strong. Let all that you do be done in love." — 1 Corinthians 16:13, 14

Stand firm in your faith and you shall walk the path to happiness.

It is not easy to do with love, to consider others rather than concentrate on self-preservation. When we become obsessed with self-love, our perspective is shallow; we tend to grasp and take; we never give and share.

Man lives with the hope of eternal salvation, and this very hope is founded upon a great sacrifice.

Let the example of the life of Christ guide us to a firm stand for right things, an eagerness to do with love in our hearts, then we shall know the rewards of God's love.

An Open Letter

First Baptist Church
Belle Glade, Florida

Dear Friends,
Once again the liquor interest have been successful in convincing the City Commission that the will of the majority should be disregarded in order that their own selfish interests might be served.

On May 23rd an ordinance to extend the hours for the sale of liquor was passed on the basis of an additional two hours each day and provided for Sunday sales for eleven hours. This proposal, in spite of a vote of the public which defeated this proposal, is to be voted on by the City Commission on June 4th.

The vote of the city commissioners was three for the proposed ordinance and two against. We wish to express our appreciation to commissioners Bowen and Williams for opposing and urge the others to reconsider their vote.

We call on the people of our city to join us in re-affirming our position.
Citizens, do you want to keep Belle Glade a nice place to live?

Make your choice and your voice heard in this matter. Above all, be present at the next meeting of the Commission on Monday, June 13th at eight o'clock, when this ordinance is to come up for second reading.

"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Proverbs 20:1

USE LIGHT METER FOR GOOD PICTURES

Photography almost always creates some special problems for both amateur and professional photographers. The hardest one is selecting the correct lens exposure.

Bright sunlight, reflected off the water, makes guesswork extremely difficult. Even the professional admits this. They know a light meter is the only way to obtain pictures with the correct exposure.

To obtain the full benefits of a light meter, you must use it correctly. Take the reading directly at the object of interest you plan to photograph. If this is impossible, find an object nearby that is exposed to the same light conditions. Once you have the reading, don't second guess the meter.

The Estimate News Service also warns against committing one of the four most common errors in outdoor photography. Before clicking the shutter the next time, run through these check points:

(1) Hold the camera steady. Don't lean the shutter release. Secure it firmly. When you're on solid ground you can leave the camera. When shooting from a moving boat, don't rest the camera on the gunwale. It will pick up the vibrations in the hull and give your pictures a fuzzy look.

(2) Move in closer. Almost every amateur photographer stands too far away from his subject. Don't be afraid to shoot tight close-ups. Often times these will be your best pictures.

38-Year Glades Resident James Cook Buried Tuesday

JAMES COOK

James Thomas Cook, 48, of 352 SW Second Place, died Sunday in the Glades General Hospital following series of hospital confinements in a battle with the dread disease — cancer.

A native of Georgia, and a resident of the Glades for 38 years, James Cook is remembered as a baseball player of note in his school years, as well as with the American Legion Junior team of the Glades.

Mr. Cook's later years were spent in the wholesale grocery distribution in the Glades.

A son, Gerald of Ft. Myers and his widow Mrs. Ruth Cook of Belle Glade, are joined by his father, W. V. (Don) Cook, step-mother Mrs. Vernon Cook and two sisters Mrs. Gladys Chapman and Mrs. Louise Bartfield, of Tampa as immediate family survivors.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday June 7 in the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade, with Rev. H. E. Elland and Rev. W. E. Boland officiating.

Pallbearers were: Wendell Wells, Wm. Platt, C. E. Lutz, Geo. Crews, Hayden Williams and Dr. M. J. Luce.

Interment was in Forever Glades Mausoleum, with Williams Funeral Home in charge.

Important Sugar Hearings

On June 17, 1966, at 9:30 a. m., at the Holiday Inn Motel, Belle Glade, there will be a public hearing on fair prices for the 1966 Florida sugarcane crop, and on wage determinations applicable to field workers.

This hearing will determine whether wage determinations, which became effective December 1, 1965, should be continued or amended.

On Tuesday, June 14, 1966 an informal hearing will be held at the Eden Roc Hotel, Miami Beach, at 10:00 a. m., covering establishing farm proportionate shares for the 1967 sugarcane crop. Views and recommendations of interested persons are desired on all matters relating to establishment of proportionate shares. This is due to the fact that there is an excess carryover from the 1965 crop, and indications point to a carryover of the 1966 crop.

Sugarcane and sugarcane producers face the future with more assurance because of the 6-year term of sugar legislation enacted in 1965.

The new legislation gives domestic producers a larger share of the US market than they have had in the past. It also gives them an opportunity to share in increases in consumption above a specified level.

Total market returns to mainland sugarcane and sugarcane growers from the 1965 crop will be 40 percent above the 1960 crop level.

For the future, stability under the new legislation will insure a continuing rising consumption of sugar to the benefit of all domestic growers.

The Glades Has Lost Its Champion

Luther Jones was all things to the Glades, and to its citizens. He was its lover, its critic, its promoter, its benefactor.

And now he is dead.

No man knew more about the Glades than Luther Jones. He knew every business, how it started, how it started it, and when it started. Every businessman, big or small, was known to Luther Jones.

Luther Jones knew every family, how they started; if they came to the Glades, where they came from and when, and he knew how each family grew. He was the sole repository of many family secrets and aspirations.

All things, personal, family, business, political, were safe with Luther Jones. All who came to him with a problem left with the benefit of the depth of his wisdom, none left with any doubt of the greatness of his human understanding, none left without feeling better, none left with any doubt as to the sanctity of their private confidences.

Yet, now, "Luther Jones is dead." It is true. He seemed to be indestructible. Yet he too was human. He is dead, and the words are true and terrible. The words in their stark simplicity stun the brain, still the tongue.

Words will be written. Things will be said. But words are nothing new. They are hollow, and have no echo. He cannot hear them.

But when Luther Jones spoke, all listened. Washington listened. Tallahassee listened. The Glades listened. For when Luther Jones spoke of the Glades, of its problems, of its accomplishments, he spoke with the conviction gleaned from intimate, thoughtful knowledge, and he spoke with absolute honesty and in complete fairness. He spoke from human experience, personal experience.

Luther Jones never sought honors. Yet he was given far more meaningful honors than mere transient formalities can convey. He was far more influential than most. His name was a passport, his name opened closed doors all over the United States. Luther Jones was truly a great man, a big man, and the greatest honor to him was the respect accorded him by his fellow citizens of the Glades.

And now the Captain of the Glades is gone.

Service Above Self

Luther's ways were simple yet dynamic

His heart was happiest at his labors

His spirit strong and richly blest in aging years.

His life sought not to be renowned

But in his town and state

And in his ways

He gladly served his country

In tireless, unending days.

Twenty-six years they scored

Without personal concern

As every week the press went on

Never an obstacle too great

Nor a person he failed to greet

Luther's life was lived

In every page and every effort served.

With every customer, every friend, with children

He passed on the street

He shared a hearty word, cast a friendly hand

Spread joy to small hearts in countless unknown gifts.

He made no great demands on life

Or on his fellowman

He liked to talk, to smell the printer's ink,

To write the truth, and give a boost

To every man.

For his community, his country . . . his paper

And himself . . . his life said "MY TASK".

His was a life of faith-action

He was grateful for the good earth . . .

Especially the rich, black earth . . . and the whole creation.

He did not cringe at life

Or ever seek a crown

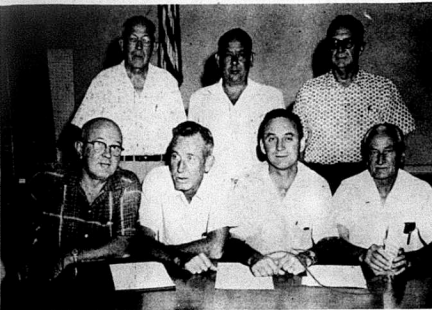

He was no drifter — nor complainer

He gave to his community of himself

His day-by-day living

Monday through Monday

Was bound in the bundle of life with his

Luther Jones . . . "The Doer"

The accomplishments of Luther Jones, through his almost unlimited energies, brought honor and fame not only to this most unusual of men but also to his community and county he loved. "The Hurrier I go, The Behind I get" reads a favorite Jones Motto hanging on the wall of the Belle Glade Herald yet the wonder remains of unparalleled accomplishments. Mute evidence are other plaques of regard honoring Luther Jones bestowed by those with whom and for whom he worked and served.

community, family, friends, doing humbly

Great or small services without

Reward of money, but

SERVICES TO HIS COMMUNITY . . . a

Portrayal of Luther's love for both

LIVING AND DOING.

LUTHER JONES a very tower of greatness and strength was symbolic of a man of deep humility with unparalleled talents and abilities who sought no praise for himself

But one whom praise sought.

Now Luther's life has come to an abrupt end—

What Luther believed made him was he was,

And God grant us each one to say

As Luther said by his life and ways

"I believe" . . . and to know that with his passing it was with confidence that what Christ had begun in him would be brought to a full completion in the world beyond.

To his wife, Ruby, son, Lukie and family and co-workers be assured that his citizenship in Heaven is a lasting legacy, for how Luther served and lived for his community, too, is a lasting legacy.

OF HOW HE LOVED HIS NEIGHBOR

AND GOD.

known him for over 20 years.

Contributions

Coming In For Cancer Drive

Volunteer services of over thirty scouts from Belle Glade Scout Troops numbers 601, 621 and 632 in a door-to-door residential campaign resulted in cancer contributions in excess one hundred and fifty dollars according to Billy Deem, Scoutmaster of Troop 601, who organized the boys in this personal community service. "Mr. Deem and the boys are to be highly commended for this dedication of personal time," said Mr. T. A. Blauser, Chairman of the Belle Glade Cancer Drive. Blauser stated that activities will continue through next week and it is expected that the goal of $1300.00 will be easily reached. Gus Peavy will head a door-to-door drive in the colored residential area next week while Mrs. W. C. Taylor will head the business drive.

Servicemen

Meet In Vietnam

A joyful meeting of two of Belle Glade's servicemen occurred half a world away the last week in May when Pfc. William R. Grover, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Grover, Sr., 213 S. E. Seventh Street, and Pfc. Thomas A. Trammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edna Trammell, met in Saigon, South Vietnam.

Both young men were inducted into the U. S. Army in August, 1965. After their basic training in Ft. Jackson, S. C., both were reassigned — Trammell to the Basic Army Administration School in Ft. Jackson, S. C., and Grover to the Field Artillery School in Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. Upon completion of these courses, Trammell was assigned to the 4th Transportation Command in Vietnam, and Grover to the 27th Artillery unit, also in Vietnam.

The young men visited some of the night spots in Saigon, and taped personal messages to their families before saying farewell.

Mrs. Gladys McDonald was presented the annual Jaycee Citizen of the Year Award at the Jaycee Installation Banquet held Saturday, June 3rd at the Palms Club.

Mrs. McDonald was cited for her 20 some years service as Parks and Recreational Director of the City of Belle Glade. Through her efforts, Belle Glade is known for the beautiful plantings throughout the city and in McDonald Park named in her honor.
